

WHAT IS CONNECT AND WHAT CAN IT DO FOR ME?

Your CONNECT profile is a one-stop log-in system for accessing and managing your scholarly identity across multiple participating publishers' websites. It allows you to manage your privacy and security settings, institutional membership(s), ORCID and any other accounts all in one place.

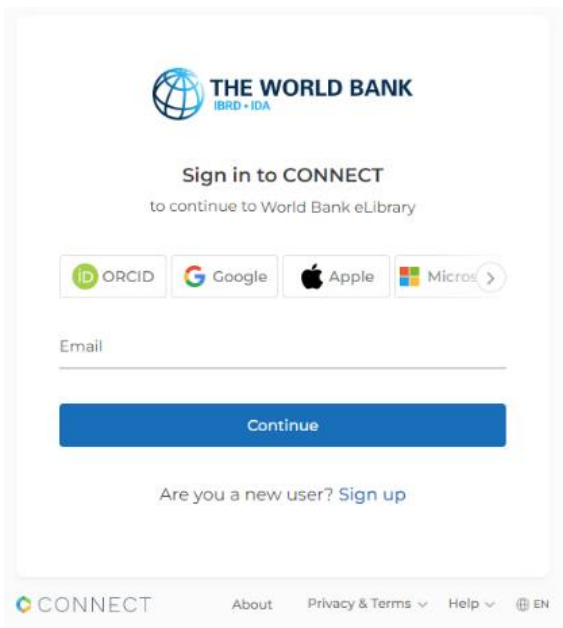

CONNECT replaces your World Bank eLibrary login with a simpler, more secure approach to access the site, whether you are on site or not.

CONNECT also provides you with the ability to...

- verify your institutional memberships and access content using the subscriptions of your institution from anywhere.
- selectively reuse your profile on additional publishing websites and researcher applications that are also using CONNECT.

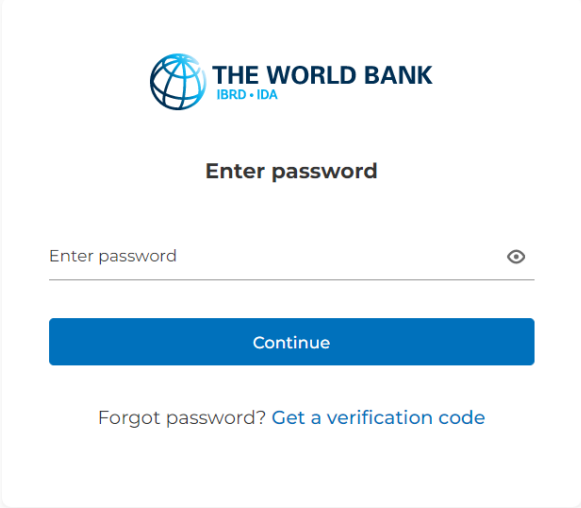

How to complete your CONNECT registration

When you log in on the World Bank eLibrary site for the first time after December 13, 2022, you will be directed to a login page to register for your account in CONNECT. You will only need to complete this process once.

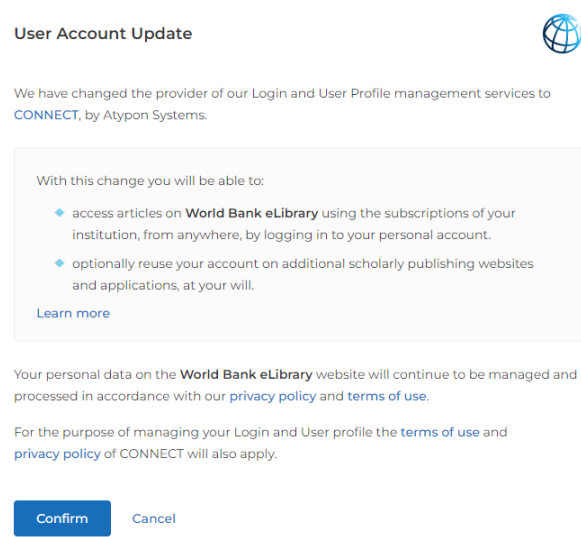

Select the method you would like to use for registering and accessing your CONNECT account. You have the option to use the email you use to access the World Bank eLibrary, or your username and password from your ORCID, Google, Apple Microsoft, or Twitter account.

If you select email, it is important that to use the same email address you use to log into eLibrary. If you use a different email address than for your existing World Bank eLibrary account, a new user account will be created in CONNECT.

The screenshot shows the login interface for the World Bank eLibrary. At the top left is the World Bank logo (IBRD + IDA). The main heading is "Enter password". Below it is a text input field with the placeholder "Enter password" and a toggle icon for password visibility. A blue "Continue" button is positioned below the input field. At the bottom of the form, there is a link: "Forgot password? Get a verification code". The footer of the page includes the "CONNECT" logo and navigation links for "About", "Privacy & Terms", "Help", and "EN".

You will be asked to confirm the account migration to CONNECT. This page provides links to the World Bank Privacy Policy, World Bank eLibrary Terms of Use & Conditions, as well as the CONNECT Privacy Policy and Terms of Use.

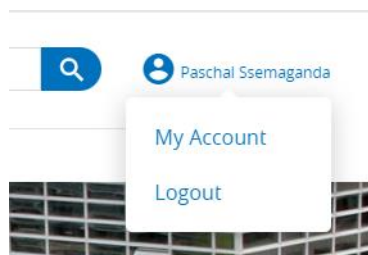

The screenshot displays a "User Account Update" confirmation page. It features the World Bank logo in the top right corner. The main text states: "We have changed the provider of our Login and User Profile management services to CONNECT, by Atypon Systems." Below this, a box lists the benefits of the change: "With this change you will be able to:" followed by two bullet points: "access articles on World Bank eLibrary using the subscriptions of your institution, from anywhere, by logging in to your personal account." and "optionally reuse your account on additional scholarly publishing websites and applications, at your will." A "Learn more" link is provided below the list. Further down, it explains that personal data on the World Bank eLibrary website will continue to be managed according to its privacy policy and terms of use, and that the terms of use and privacy policy of CONNECT will also apply for the purpose of managing the user's login and profile. At the bottom, there are two buttons: a blue "Confirm" button and a "Cancel" link.

Once signed in, you will be able to access the eLibrary site and your personal eLibrary account as usual.
